Films

We have made several films to date. Some were made to capture an historic event such as the recapping of Hough Windmill. Some were made to record the processes of a Leicestershire factory before it closed for good. One was made to explain the history of a particular site and what our Society is trying to achieve there.

Some films are just a few minutes long and can be watched on line from our website. Longer films, or longer versions of some of the films you can see here, are available on DVD.
